

A one day seminar on “Status of Women in India & Italy: a Comparative Perspective” on 1st November 2012

Department of women's studies, Bharathidasan University organized a one day seminar on “Status of Women in India & Italy: a Comparative Perspective” on 1st November 2012. Dr. V. Backiyavathy welcomed the gathering. Ms. Paol Cagna, Research Scholar, International Development, Sapienza University, Italy was the Resource Person. Staff and Students from various Departments participated and interacted with the Resource Person. Ms. Paol Cagna explained the status of Women in Italy decade by decade. She extended that the women in Italy also faced some sort of gender discrimination like Indian women facing. Lower class women are doubly disadvantaged. Prof. Iyyampillai, Dept of Economics, Dr. Kupendran, Assistant Professor, Mr. Ramajeyam, Assistant Professor, Dr.Suriyan, Associate Professor Centre for Study of Social Exclusion and Inclusive Policy participated and initiated the discussion.